

DICKINSON FAILS TO SEE ANY DANGER OF FIGHTING

SECRETARY OF WAR SAYS THAT THUS FAR UNITED STATES HAS MADE PEACEFUL MOVE.

HAVE NO EXCUSE AS YET

To Start Any Invasion of Mexican Territory—Does Not Anticipate Any Really Serious Trouble on the Borderland.

New York, March 12.—"I do not believe there will be any movement of our troops into Mexico," Secretary of War Dickinson today said in a statement. "There can be no excuse for intervention," continued Secretary Dickinson, "unless the Mexican government proves negligent in protecting persons or property of foreign residents, and such negligence would have to be firmly established in my opinion, before any such steps could be taken. There are no conditions now existing to give us such a warrant."

Does Not Sail. Washington, March 12.—After a long distance telephone conversation with Brigadier General Edwards, Secretary of War Dickinson today postponed indefinitely his trip to Panama, although he was in New York ready to sail this afternoon. It was formally denied that the action had any connection with the Mexican situation.

Savage Fighting. El Paso, Tex., March 12.—A dispatch from Navajon, Sonora, states there was a spirited engagement at that place Saturday. The insurgents finally captured the town with a loss of one killed and two wounded.

Washington Starts. Portsmouth, N. H., March 12.—The battleship Washington today started for Guantanamo with a full crew of 900 men aboard and magazines, bunkers and store rooms containing enough ammunition, coal and sustenance to keep her supplied for several weeks.

Issues Statement. New York, March 12.—Senator Limon, Mexican minister of finance, issued a lengthy typewritten statement today in which he made plain his lack of satisfaction with the "maneuvers" explanation given in connection with the Mexican situation. He carefully quoted the word "maneuvers" whenever it was used.

Troops Arrive. San Antonio, March 12.—While the troops from the more remote army posts, held back by inefficient railway service, were anxiously waiting here today, Col. Roosevelt visited the new army camps. He was greeted quietly and this afternoon addressed the school children of San Antonio. Hundred of recruits from recruiting stations all over the United States are arriving on every train and being assigned to the lighter regiments.

Interference Shown. San Diego, Cal., March 12.—That reasons other than the Mexican revolution are responsible for the mobilization of the forces of the United States army and navy in southern the crisis in the Mexican trouble is clear of hand and invasion by American troops is certain.

Soldiers Must Stay in Camp. Galveston, Texas, March 12.—With 1,200 American soldiers confined in camp by official orders to prevent renewal of attacks on Mexican residents by troops in which one soldier and one police officer were wounded, Galveston today is under a form of military law.

OFFICERS SEE SIX REASONS FOR THE ARMY MANEUVERS

Monroe Doctrine Assigned as Principal Reason and to Show Efficiency of Army in Mobilizing Quickly.

San Antonio, Tex., March 12.—Army officers already gathered here profess to see six different reasons why a large portion of the American standing army is gathered in war like array upon the Mexican frontier. They are:

First—To prove to foreign nations that the Monroe Doctrine is still in force.

Second—A warning that foreign intervention on grounds that foreign interests in Mexico are imperiled will not be tolerated.

Third—To frighten insurgents and prevent army neutrality.

Fourth—An invasion and pacification of Mexico in the event of the death of Diaz.

Fifth—To answer criticism that the army is inefficient and unable to mobilize quickly and in good order.

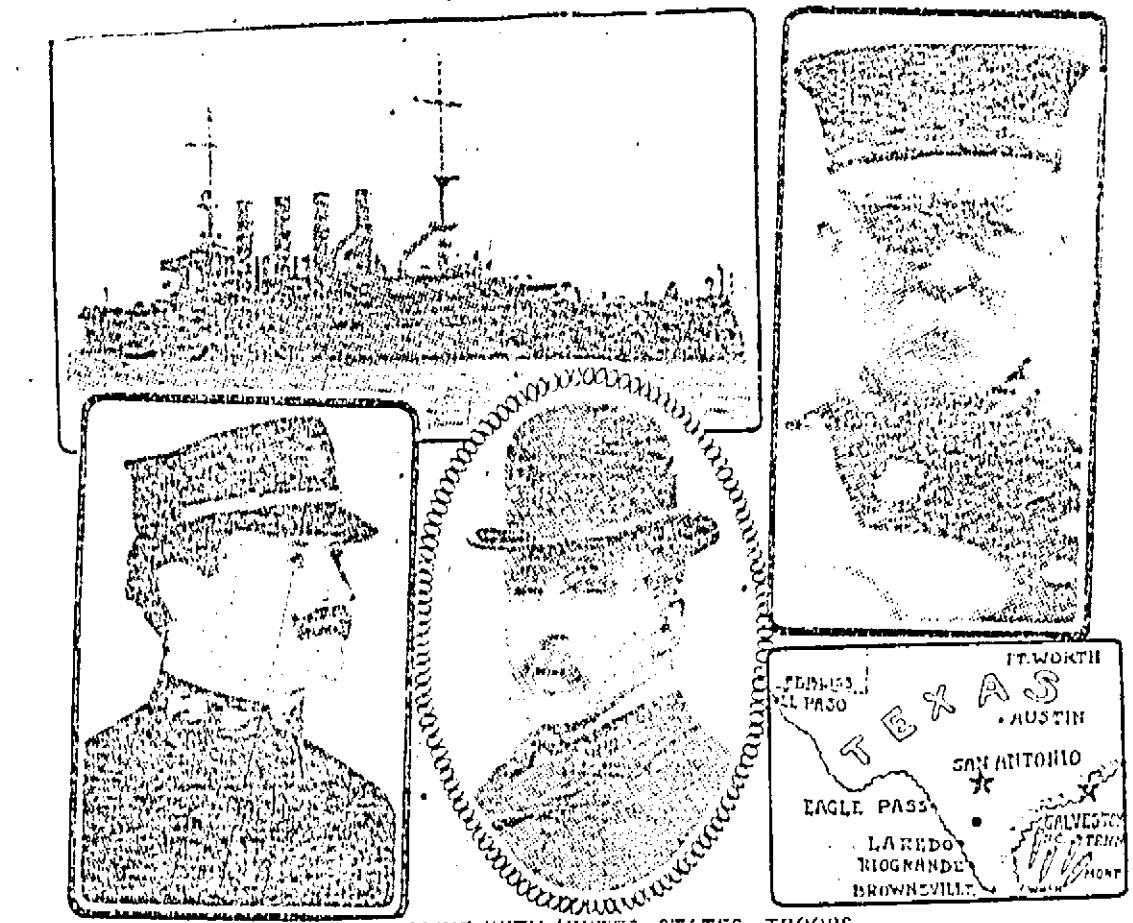

Sixth—To give officers and men practical instruction in field maneuvers with forces on exact footing.

Two officers, admitting they are in the dark believe, however, that the Monroe Doctrine is the chief object of mobilization. Foreign nations, they believe, represented to the state department that foreign interests are endangered by aggrandizements of the insurgents, and that foreign nations would be compelled to intervene unless America acted.

Despite optimistic reports disseminated by American officials, Diaz is believed to be in a critical physical condition and there is no hand sufficiently strong to assume the reins of government in the event of his death when anarchy would be expected and an armed invasion made necessary.

Are Not Worried. New York, N. Y., March 12.—Gustavo Madero, brother of Francisco I. Madero, the revolutionary leader and Provisional President in Mexico, made the following statement concerning the missing of troops in Texas after reading the explanation made by the administration:

"The United States has a perfect right to put a wall of troops along her frontiers if she wishes, but it will not make any difference to us. We have all the guns and ammunition we want now in Mexico."

Austin, Texas.—The sudden appearance of 20,000 of Uncle Sam's fighting men within the confines of the Lone Star state has given the commonwealth every appearance of actual warfare.

Most of the 20,000 troops are already in Mexico and the balance will be here within a day or so. They are stationed at all the strategic points along the frontier and the interior from Brownsville to El Paso and up to the Mexican border line. Major General Wood, chief of the staff, direct all movements from Washington. General William H. Carter, assistant chief of staff, assisted by several brigadier generals, is in active charge of the brigades representing the land forces.

On the sea, cruisers comprising the fifth division of the Atlantic fleet are stationed near the Mexican frontier. The fleet comprises four armored cruisers, supplemented by an auxiliary fleet. They are the battleships Tennessee, Montana, North Carolina, and Washington, each of 14,500 tons displacement. The ships are under the command of Rear Admiral Sydney A. Staunton.

COURT DECLARED CORPORATION TAX CONSTITUTIONAL

Supreme Judicial Tribunal of United States Decides the Senate Can Insert Corporation Tax Provision in House Tariff Bill.

Washington, March 12.—The United States supreme court today decided the corporation tax is constitutional. At 12:25 Justice Day began to deliver the decision of the supreme court on the constitutionality of the corporation tax.

Judge Day first announced it was within the power of the senate to insert corporation tax provisions in the tariff law, which originated in the house and of which the tax provisions are part.

Judge Day held the tax is an "excise tax on doing business," which is exactly the basis on which government has levied the tax.

HOME RULE BILLS ARE INTERESTING THE WHOLE STATE

Now Seem To Realize What Stern Measure May Really Mean To Other Cities.

Madison, Wis., March 12.—It is believed that few residents of cities in Wisconsin realize the importance to them of the home rule bills pending before the legislature, especially the bill introduced by Assemblyman Brown of Milwaukee. While this measure has been discussed especially in the city of Milwaukee, it applies to the whole state and has been endorsed by the League of Wisconsin Municipalities as a proper method of giving cities the right to govern themselves, within the limitations of the constitution.

That instrument gives only to the legislature the power to make territorial laws and to regulate taxation, but leaves to many other powers which, if granted to the cities, would save the time of the legislature each session in no small degree.

The then bill permits a majority of a city council, with the approval of the mayor, or two-thirds of the council alone, to submit charter amendments to the people. There also are provisions for the initiative, so that people themselves may secure the submission of any proposed amendment to the voters at any spring election.

It is provided that if in per cent of the voters sign a petition for the submission of an amendment, the city council is required to place the amendment before the people at the next general election. If a petition containing the signatures of fifteen per cent of the voters is presented to a city clerk, it is provided that the clerk must submit the question to the electors at a special election to be called by him, provided the petition is filed more than three months before a regular spring election. Under the bill, a council also may decide by a two-thirds vote with the approval of the mayor, to order a special election for the submission of a proposed charter amendment adopted by it.

Provision is made for a "charter convention" for extensive amendment or rechartering of a city charter. It is provided that any citizen of five years residence in the city may be elected as delegate. The charter convention is to be called either by a resolution adopted by two-thirds of the council or a majority, the mayor approving; or upon petition of 10 per cent of the electors. The election of charter convention delegates is to be held the same time as any other spring election, and citizens may become candidates for delegates by petition, the twenty-one receiving the largest number of votes being declared elected. The delegates are to be paid a per diem and expenses, the amount of the former to be fixed by the council.

Representatives of cities other than Milwaukee may appear for the Stern bill if the assembly committee favors the bill, and it may be that further hearings will not be held until it reaches the senate and is referred to the committee on corporations.

BURGLARS AT WORK AT MILTON STORES

Cash Register of A. M. Van Horn's Meat Market Was Robbed of $15 and Broken Warehouse Was Entered.

Milton, March 12.—A. M. Van Horn's meat market was burglarized Saturday night. Entrance was effected by climbing in the front window. The cash register was robbed and the safe, which was not locked, was overhauled. The "yarns" secured about $15 from the cash register and took a knife and some canned goods.

GOVERNOR DECIDES AS TO APPOINTMENT

Milwaukee Newspaper Man To Be Chief Executive At the Governor's Office.

Madison, Wis., March 12.—Gov. McGovern has decided to appoint as executive clerk Harry Curran Wilbur, an Milwaukee newspaper man who last fall was of great assistance at the McGovern headquarters getting out every matter to use in the campaign. The appointment probably will be announced before the end of the month.

Ralph Thurber of Highland Center, who has been executive clerk since Gov. Davidson first became governor five years ago, will return to the active management of his weekly newspaper.

He had intended to leave when Gov. Davidson's term expired, but consented to remain during a portion of the legislative session at the request of Gov. McGovern.

Personally he is exceedingly popular, and a host of friends will regret his going.

The state board of agriculture is meeting this afternoon to discuss the amendment features for the coming state fair. Applications have been received from Wright Bros. of Curtis and Louis Strobel, of Antigo, all of whom desire to place aeroplane exhibitions at the annual show.

AGENT OF MEXICAN REVOLUTION MAKES PUBLIC STATEMENT

Dr. Francisco Vasquez Gomez Signifies Case of the Insurrection to American People.

(Copyright by United Press.) By Dr. Francisco Vasquez Gomez. Washington, D. C., March 12.—Submitting the case of the Mexican revolution to the "conscience of the free American people," Dr. Francisco Vasquez Gomez, authorized confidential agent of the Modern party today wrote the following statement for the United Press:

"We have not the slightest fear in respect to the alleged purpose of the government of the United States to intervene in the present struggle in Mexico. In the first place, this government knows full well that a vast majority of the Mexican people are unalterably opposed to a further continuance of the Diaz reign, and the 'system' which it represents. We have absolute faith that the United States under no circumstances would interfere to prevent the vast majority from executing its popular will.

If there exists any menace to life or property, that menace has been created by General Diaz himself, for, as everyone knows, the revolutionary party has taken particular pains to protect all non-combatants, particularly foreigners, and their property.

They have gone so far as to pay in cash for quartermaster and commissary supplies which they have been forced to seize and you have yet to hear of a single American citizen who has been molested by our troops.

If this government believes that chaos and anarchy are imminent in Mexico it may be said with certainty that this condition will only arise when some tumultuous outbreak demands the destruction of the 'system.' All movements of revolutionary columns and all spontaneous uprising of the people are, and will be, continued toward this end alone. All they desire is the elimination of graft, a right to popular suffrage and no more re-election.

In regard to creating a humanitary chain along the Mexican frontier from coast to coast, composed of American troops in order to prevent alleged violations of neutrality laws it may surprise you to know that our forces have received no munitions from the United States for a very considerable period, and do not expect to receive any in the future.

We now have our own means of manufacturing and loading cartridges and as we have an ample supply of smokeless powder and small arms, we really have no necessity for further material of this sort with which to continue the war.

We submit you once to the conscience of the free American people, who will certainly never sympathize with a grafting oligarchy as against a people struggling for their rights guaranteed them by their constitution.

Firemen on Queen and Crescent Route Have Struck and Threaten to Shut Down Strike Creators.

Summers, Ky., March 12.—All traffic on the Queen and Crescent route between this city and Chattanooga, Tenn., is at a standstill today as a result of armed clashes between striking firemen and negro strike-breakers in which eleven have already been killed and a dozen wounded. May Be Complete. Cincinnati, O., March 12.—A complete stoppage of the Queen and Crescent route and possibly all southern railroads is threatened today as a result of the strike of white firemen on the former road. LEGISLATURE HAS MAPPED OUTWORK

FROM NOW ON THE MEMBERS WILL RUSH MATTERS ALONG WITH ALL SPEED POSSIBLE.

DAYS WILL BE BUSY ONES

Much Must Be Accomplished Before Any Thought of Adjournment Can Be Entertained.

Madison, Wis., March 12.—The Wisconsin legislature has at last not down to work in earnest and from now until final adjournment it will be grinding out important laws. The big things are now beginning to press for consideration—bills vital to the economic, social and political conditions of the people of the state. Governor McGovern and the leaders in the legislature are anxious to see legislation enacted which will promote the material and intellectual welfare of all the people of Wisconsin. There seems to be a disposition on the part of most of the members of the legislature to bend their shoulder to the wheel for this purpose.

One of the political matters to come up this week will be the Bullard resolution, which was adopted by the assembly last Friday evening, deploring the failure of the federal senate to invest Senator Lorimer of Illinois, and commending Senator La Follette for voting in favor and securing Senator Stephenson for voting against the expulsion of the Chicago senator. It seems certain that the senate will concur in this resolution, though the friends of Stephenson will try to prevent such action.

The Hunting resolution asking the United States senate to investigate the charges of fraud and bribery growing out of the election of Stephenson two years ago and pass on his right to his seat, will be heard by the senate committee on judiciary this week, but owing to the inability of some of the senators to be here it was put off until next week. It is probable that a substitute will be recommended for the Hunting resolution, which will come from a republican source and be more carefully drawn than the pending measure. Judging from the way the Bullard resolution went through the lower house, a resolution asking for a federal senate investigation of the election of Stephenson will not meet much opposition in that branch of the Wisconsin legislature. It is practically certain that it will go through the upper house without much opposition.

The women suffrage bill will be given a hearing before the legislature in committee of the whole Tuesday afternoon of this week. Women lobbyists have been diligently working for weeks in favor of the James and Knapier bills giving women the right to vote at all elections. They are identical bills, and containing a provision for removal to the main voters for approval at the next general election.

On Wednesday of this week the legislature will hold a joint hearing on the personal liability bills. These measures are designed especially to protect the interests of the injured people and their dependents, modify the rule of contributory negligence and other defenses raised by employers. One of these bills makes officials of railway companies liable to prosecution for murder in the second degree for deaths caused by carelessness in loading trains.

On Thursday the question of the tuberculin test for cattle will be considered at a joint hearing. While many owners of cattle favor the tuberculin test, they oppose the present law, which is generally admitted to contain some unjust and unwise provisions. It is not expected that the law will be repealed and nothing substituted for it. This would not be (Continued on page 10.)

EARTHQUAKE THAT DID MUCH DAMAGE

MISS MARY HUMPHREY WRITES FROM CAVITE OF MT. TAAL'S ERUPTION.

WORD FROM THE PHILIPPINES

Tells of the Wonderful Sight of Big Volcano in Section and Dire Results That Followed.

Miss Mary Humphrey, a former Janesville resident, who has been in the government service for several years, having spent considerable time at Manila and is now stationed at Cavite, P. I., has written her brother, P. O. Humphrey of this city, relative to the recent seismic disturbances in the islands. Miss Humphrey writes many interesting letters for the Gazette from Manila and the following will be read with interest.

Editorial States Naval Hospital, Cavite, P. I., Feb. 2, 1911.

"Another mail leaves on the fourth, so I will send off a short letter to you, principally to tell you about the earthquakes and eruptions of Mt. Taal. It is an experience I have always wished to have, but never expected to really have.

"On Saturday morning at 4:30 a. m., January 28th, we were all awakened by having our beds shaken and the house appeared to sway back and forth. As soon as I awoke my attention was attracted to the fact that it was an earthquake shock. It was not severe enough to alarm me, so I went to sleep again.

"All the following this quake, there were others of varying force. The observatory in Manila recorded thirty-two in twelve hours. On Sunday night, at 2:30 a. m. we were all awakened by a terrible explosion. I thought there must be blasting going on somewhere in the vicinity, but in a few minutes, the night nurse came to the quarters and told us all to get up and see what was happening.

"We all rushed out on the veranda and there in the midnight was an unusual display that none of us shall soon forget. From the horizon, were towers of flame shooting toward the zenith and at the same time, great clouds of black smoke rolled up, behind which flashed angry bolts of lightning, some shooting across the black clouds some zigzagging and others shooting from the top of the cloud toward the horizon, all at once. It was a sight to be grandeur.

"We stood entranced, unable to solve the mystery, until one of the doctors decided it was an eruption of Mt. Taal.

"This volcano is located about six miles southeast of Manila, only a few miles from the coast. We could see it plainly as we steamed past it on the transport in November last. The Chief Steward was explaining to us the points of interest along the coast and when we came in sight of this volcano, he said occasionally, at night, he had seen it spitting steam and smoke so he knew it must be active although it was many years since there had been an eruption. It is only a little over 1,000 ft. high, but as it stands in the middle of a lake away from any other elevation, it looks higher than it really is.

"At Honolulu, four of my nurses climbed to the top of an extinct volcano called 'The Punch Bowl' and the crater of that helps me to understand the description given of the crater of Mt. Taal. My idea of a crater before seeing one was a hollow like the inside of a huge bottle, filled with a boiling, seething mass of a thick black liquid. If the volcano were active.

"If extinct, a great black hole of unfathomable depth. Nothing can be further from the existing conditions. A volcano has a depressed top instead of a rounded top as other mountains have, but the depression is of solid earth and is covered with vegetation the same as any other part of the mountain if the top is not above the snow line.

"As Mt. Taal is only 1,000 ft. high, the crater was well covered with vegetation, but the crater also had two small lakes in it, or more properly speaking pools, both being hot, and one green and the other yellow in color. In the centre of these pools, the water boils and bubbles and every few moments bursts when a vapor arises. When the action is especially strong, the vapor arises several feet and that is what the Chief Steward had seen. The eruption doubtless took place at these pools.

"The result of the eruption, I will let you read for yourself in the papers I will send. The exact facts have not been arrived at yet, but it is evident there has been considerable loss of life and property. The scientific men at the observatory of Manila think this will not be the end of the eruptions. The quakes continue to occur, showing that the bowels of mother earth are still active, so there may be still greater demonstrations. We hope a third wave won't wipe us off our little piece of earth here at Cavite.

"I don't remember explaining to you about the divisions of territory out here. It is quite similar to that of home. Only Spanish names are given to the divisions (we are having a lot of divisions also). So in locating the hospital we speak of it as being the Cavite.

"For instance Manila is in the island of Luzon, in the subdivision of Cavite (county) in the barrio (township) of Cavite. The largest village and the one nearest to us and so our postoffice is the village of Cavite (same as the county). Just outside the hospital grounds is another village called San Roque, but it has no postoffice. They mail goes to the Cavite postoffice also. So in locating the hospital we speak of it as being the Cavite.

Get a PERMIT to smoke. Take it home to show your wife. They will be issued next week.

EASY VICTORY FOR JANESVILLE TEAM

Local High School Basketball Team Trimmed Their Opponents From Racine by Score 56 to 12.

Last Saturday evening the Janesville high school basketball team defeated the team from Racine high school by the score of 56 to 12. The game was played on a neutral floor, at Madison high school, and Mr. Ellis of the state university, acted as referee.

Racine was one of Janesville's closest rivals for entry to the Appleton state tournament but by this defeat she will have to be satisfied with honors of best import from those she might gain in the tournament.

The Racine City boys will continue the strenuous practice, which Coach Knudson put them through last week, in order to gain added endurance. The Janesville boys will now be able to play at an exceedingly fast pace for an entire game and so wear out their opponents.

As yet Janesville's entry to the tournament is not certain as she will undoubtedly have to play at least one more game with some other high school endeavoring to gain entrance. If this is necessary, the authorities at Appleton will inform Coach Knudson in a week or two as to whom Janesville must meet.

Chinese Reply Dissatisfied.

St. Petersburg, March 12.—The Russo-Chinese negotiations have again taken an unfavorable turn. China's second reply to the Russian demand for a closer adherence to the provisions of the treaty of 1882 indicates an attitude that is unsatisfactory to the Russian government.

MEXICAN REBELS MEET REVERSES

Hundred Killed and Wounded in Two Battles.

DIAZ IN STRINGENT MOVE

President to Ask Congress for Summary Application of Death Penalty for All Caught in Serious Crimes.

Mexico City, March 12.—News of two battles in which the federal troops are reported to have been victorious over the insurgents reached here. The killed and wounded in the two engagements numbered about 100.

At Agua Prieta, across the border from Douglas, Ariz., 500 rebels attacked 300 federal troops, but were unable to withstand the fire of the machine guns and retreated. The rebels were armed with rifles only. The total casualties were placed at 25.

Trapped 120 Insurrectos. A body of 120 Insurrectos was cut to pieces by state rurales at San Bartolito Pueblo. More than fifty were killed, eleven seriously wounded and twenty-seven captured. Owing to the fact that the rurales have adopted the revolutionists' tactics of ambushing their enemy, none of their number was killed and only a few wounded.

Colonel Guerrero, in command of the rurales, upon learning the rebels were marching to attack the municipality of Nativitas, sent 100 of his men to meet them. Fifty others were ordered to cut off their retreat.

The first force selected a favorable position overlooking a ravine through which the rebels must pass, and when they were in the trap opened a merciless fire upon them. The rebels are said to have made a stubborn fight, but at the end of a half hour were completely demoralized.

The rebels have answered President Diaz's order suspending the civil guarantees with an order to give no quarter. This is taken here to mean that the fighting hereafter will be marked by all the savage barbarity of medieval times.

Diaz Makes Stringent Move. President Diaz has decided to take advantage of provisions of the constitution so that summary death may be imposed by the military authorities for any acts of violence and the Mexican government has decided to wage a sharp and decisive war of extermination speedily to end hostilities.

Resurrecting a provision of the Mexican constitution not used for 12 years, and acting under its authorization, the government will set aside for six months certain personal guarantees.

All persons detected in the act of highway robbery, of raiding a village or farm, or train wrecking, or cutting telegraph or telephone wires or even of removing a spike from a railroad track or throwing a stone at a train will be summarily shot.

Bill Sent to Congress.

The bill providing for this drastic measure was sent to the permanent commission of the federal congress. It was signed by Miguel Macedo, sub-secretary of the department of the interior, and says its enactment is the wish of the president.

That the measure did not immediately become a law is due to official form. The permanent commission is a body endowed with power to act when congress is not in session. The members of the commission unanimously approved the measure, but under the law, it is necessary that the bill come up for a second reading.

It was referred to a subcommittee and this subcommittee was instructed to report it to the commission at a special session. It will be favorably acted upon.

Cabinet Decides on Action.

The decision to ask for the "suspension of personal guarantees" provided for by the constitution was reached by the president in conference with the members of his cabinet. This provision of the constitution is one calculated to permit the federal government to put into effect at times of extraordinary conditions a form of government approaching that of martial law.

Cover of Forward Turret Is Taken From the Bottom of Havana Harbor.

Havana, March 12.—The cover of the forward turret of the battleship Maine has been raised. It weighs 20 tons and is 21 feet in diameter. The great piece of iron is unwieldy, although the 300 heavy bolts that hold it in place are sheared in half as it with a sharp knife. During the last fortnight, pilfering has been suspended because of an obstruction in the bed of the harbor. This proved to be the turret top.

TO REPRESENT UNITED STATES AT CORONATION

Battleship Delaware, which will probably convey American representatives to England. Lower left, Admiral Dewey, who is suggested as representative of the navy at the coronation. Lower right, Col. John Hays Hammond, special United States ambassador to the coronation.

Washington, D. C.—The state department has received from the British government an invitation to send a naval representative to the coronation of George V. It is the understanding at the state department that Colonel John Hays Hammond is to be special United States ambassador, although President Taft has not yet announced the appointment. Secretary of State Knox, however, stated that Mr. Hammond had been selected.

With Colonel Hammond will go a naval officer and a military officer of high rank and a secretary. It is probable that a rear admiral will be chosen from the navy and a general from the army. One United States war vessel, the North Dakota or the Delaware, will take part in the naval review at Spithead.

UNCLE HIRAM ROBBED AUNT SIMANTHA STUNG

Uncle Hiram said, "Gosh, here's a doctor that's a good man; don't charge for consultation or examination." So he went to see this great specialist doctor from Peru and Paris at the hotel and came home with a bottle of Epsom salts and water; cost him five dollars. Hiram is now eating drugs. Hiram didn't know that the specialist was a medicine peddler.

Aunt Simantha sent a dollar down east for a bottle of secret process blood medicine (alves and water). Sister Sue sent away for a box of flesh reducer; cost her two dollars for five cents worth of cow sals. Old Cap. James bought medicine for years of the medicine wagon. "The economical old lady says, 'These druggists charge a lot of rough syrup for fifty cents.' So she got a bottle of genuine concentrated laxative virgin oil of Mentha Pina and it cost her fifty cents for two cents worth of Balam of Fir. These are the people who say drugs are no good.

"Now there are good and poor drugs and bad drugs. Don't buy every remedy advertised; don't think you can save money by using newspaper recipes. Most of them are fakes. Ask your druggist. Come in and ask questions of Mr. Mentha, our graduation Pharmacist and Chemist. Learn if a remedy is good before you buy. We are always glad to give you our honest answer. Good drugs are good. WALTER L. FISHER.
Not the least important of our possessions is that strip of land along the Pacific coast known as Alaska, which is just now becoming more and more prominent in the financial world. Purchased from Russia it was an expense to the government for many years until gold was found in great quantities, and since then has been the subject of almost endless litigation between "Interests" who, it is alleged, seek to control it.
The new secretary of the Interior, Walter L. Fisher, should have all reasonable opportunity of acquainting himself with the duties and affairs of his office before being asked to outline a general policy; but since important matters within the province of the department are of peculiar interest to an important section of the country, it is not likely that Secretary Fisher will be granted much time beyond what he shall actually and determinedly reserve. Regardless of how opinions may differ upon the merits of the so-called Pinchot-Bullinger case, friends as well as foes of the executive must have felt for some time past that the good of the service demanded his retirement. Whatever step Mr. Bullinger might have taken looking to the opening of Alaska would have been subjected to severe criticism and suspicion. With Mr. Bullinger out of the way, Alaskan development should now come forward as one of the greatest problems confronting government and people.
It is no reflection upon the general intelligence of the nation to say that throughout a large part of it today as little is known of the extent, resources, potential wealth and possibilities of Alaska as was known about the Louisiana purchase a hundred years ago. If the fact that it is a vast area of territory containing within itself all the natural elements necessary to the upbuilding of an empire could once be popularly grasped, matters with reference to its development that heretofore have assumed major proportions would appear in their true light as minor and practically insignificant considerations.

The more figures as you already have them, great as they are, fail to convey an adequate idea of the opportunities which the territory offers to intellect and energy. When one says that its coast line is greater than the Atlantic seaboard of the United States, and that it has among its many great rivers one which is a mile wide 600 miles from its mouth, that it has millions upon millions of acres of virgin forest and billions upon billions of tons of unworked minerals, all one can hope to do is to convey a vague impression of its extent and resources. But this impression should not be so vague as to leave any of us in doubt with regard to the obligations which the possession of such a magnificent tract of public property involves. We shall doubtless be able to see that a negative policy toward it on the part of the government will be less harmful only in a degree than a negligent or loose policy.

The Pacific Northwest is immediately, but the West and the entire country are deeply concerned in the attitude of the new secretary of the Interior toward the development of Alaska. For the last six years conservation, to Alaskans, has meant stagnation. Land grabbing, speculation, spoliation, should be given no opportunity in Alaska, but settlement, development, enterprise, along legitimate lines, should be invited and encouraged. Secretary Fisher appears to enjoy the confidence of those who stand opposed to the introduction into the territory of special privileges and corporate aggression and greed. So much the more readily can he lend himself to the advancement of honest effort and industry within its borders.

ON THE BORDERLAND.
With one-fourth of the fighting force of the United States on the borderland between this country and Mexico, talk of foreign interference, Japanese influence keeping the insurrection alive across the Rio Grande, possibility of the necessity of American troops marching into the territory of our sister republic, it is no wonder that the men of affairs wonder what it all means. Wisconsin militia officers have been invited to be ready to attend the "maneuvers" and several have accepted. The Wall Street Journal makes the following comment on the affair, although it is evidently as much in the dark as is the rest of the country until the time comes for Taft and his advisors to take the public into their confidence.
"Obviously no results worth having can be achieved by hunting ducks with a brass band. It seems a pity that the purposes of our army of twenty thousand men, whatever those purposes may be, could not have been achieved with a little less splash. The number of men is not large, and represents about one-twentieth of the ordinary German peace maneuvers. But the detachment is considerable enough in size to stifle the imagination of a peace-loving people."

"Although Washington, quite properly, is not saying much, the object of the development is not beyond all conjecture. Our own people have been somewhat to blame for the disturbance in Mexico, and there is reason to suspect that the insurrectionists have been helped not merely by soldiers of fortune from this country but by speculators with selfish ends in view. It was therefore the part of wisdom to run a serious barrier along the border, leaving the Mexican government to settle its own difficulties in its own way."

"Next to ourselves the country with the largest financial interest in Mexico is Great Britain. The old Mexican railway which runs from Vera Cruz to the City of Mexico is entirely controlled by British capital. Most of the government borrowing has been done through London, and England and the Continent helped to finance the Mexican government's share in the railways recently taken under state control."

"Our own financial interest is even larger, however, including, besides mining concessions of great extent and value, at least two railroads of importance, in the Harriman extension of Southern Pacific and the Mexican extension of the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient. Our own business in the southwest is unfavorably influenced by continual disturbance on the border. It is easy, in fact, to find good reasons for the action taken by the President; and the only criticism would apply to the manner and not to the fact."

"Troops do not as a rule maneuver with ball cartridges, so we must take the development seriously. When General Bonaparte stamped out the last embers of the French revolution he cleared the streets of Paris in summary fashion. Long afterward he said: 'I did not use blank cartridges. It would have been a waste of life to do so.'"

CARP FISHING.
Janesville fishermen are much interested in the Fisher bill now pending before the legislature which, if passed, will place Lake Koshong in the "excepted" class of inland lakes as regards carp fishing. The hearings before the assembly committee shows most clearly that the matter is of real importance and the fact that three men can, within a few weeks' time, take from the waters of the lake some thirty-six thousand dollars worth of fish shows the real reason for their activity in seeking to defeat the measure. The Jefferson County Union, writing on the subject, says:
"Men who can clean up $12,000 apiece in a single year can afford to hang around Madison during the session of the legislature and can pay the expenses of their favorite tradesmen here to go to Madison and argue before the fish and game committee in favor of, or, continued carp fishing."

The poor men who labor in our factories and who depend upon the lake for their outlive to renew the health and strength necessary to continue their daily toil can neither afford to pay their own expenses nor to hire representatives to go before the fish and game committee.

"Their petitions have been turned down repeatedly.
"This carp fishing business has an amusing side were it not also pathetic. The carp fishers are permitted to obtain tons and tons of good food that others are denied the privilege of getting by conditions that put a poor man out of business.
"There is nothing left to the people but the recreation features of the lake."

"But in the pursuit of the fish afore said the recreation features are practically knocked out and the people have no redress. They are like the Arab who allowed his camel to put his head in his tent. Inch by inch the camel got in the rest of his body until there being no room at last for the Arab he was obliged to get out. Funny, isn't it?"

Dean George L. Collier of Hollet college states that the reason that Janesville did not feel the recent powder explosion at Pleasant Prairie is because of the geographical strata of rock that this section of the state lies over.

That coronation of King George of England promises to be the real thing in the way of coronations, and if you have not ordered your five thousand dollar suit along the line of march be sure and do so at once.

There is no doubt that the "maneuvers" will demonstrate lots of things that should be changed in the present army system and will make some of the "soft soap" officers talk in a language that is not fit for publication.

With Taft and Roosevelt both in the South, trouble with Mexico brewing, and the "Yellow Peril" discussed on the Pacific coast, it certainly is a strenuous spring.

That clean up order is still in vogue but it is useless to clean up the streets and leave the alleys untouched. Make a good job of it while you are at it.

England is going to drive the Mormon preachers out of its country on the ground they are undesirable.

Can the English House of Commons have been taking lessons from the lower House of Congress.

New York wants to gobble up five more suburbs. It will then be Greater New York in truth.

I called upon the grocer man, and asked him for a gallon can of syrup, and he cried: "Too bad! JUST AS GOOD last we had, but we have something just as good; this horrosom of ours has stood the fiercest tests you ever saw; and scientists lay down the law that coal oil is in a class apart; it tones the liver and fills the heart; it fills you full of rich red blood, and makes your hair and whiskers' end. So throw your syrup jar away, and buy some fancy cane today." I snorted that merchant with his scales, and soaked him thrice with my lyre, and set his one-horse store afire. I called upon the grocer and then wished to buy a fountain pen. "I do not keep such things," he said; "the trade in fountain pens is dead; they seldom serve you as they should—and I have something just as good. Now, I've a squirrel here, my friend, that I can safely recommend. The London Lancet rightly claims there are no better, safer penmen than squirrels water from a gum—there are no better, safer penmen than squirrels water from a gum. So, there's no merchant in this land, to say, 'Such goods are not on hand; there is none in this neighborhood,' and there is nothing just as good?"

FIRE IN MILWAUKEE BUSINESS DISTRICT

Fire Which Started in a Rag Shop Threatened Disastrous Results in Business District.
(By Associated Press.)

Milwaukee, March 12.—Scores of firemen manning thirty pieces of fire apparatus today fought a fire which threatened disastrous results in the business district. The blaze started in a rag shop at 295 Milwaukee street. Before brought under control, it damaged the Puritan Candy company, Young Saddlery company, and other buildings approximately $25,000. Three girl employees of the Puritan Candy company refused to leave the building and allow unpacked candy to be ruined by smoke and water. They were forcibly removed by police. Factory Destroyed.
Fire originating from an unknown cause early today destroyed the plant of J. P. Lindemann & Sons, stove manufacturers, and threatened adjoining property. Albert Williams, foreman, who may have been in the plant at the time of the fire has not been found.

SLIDE ENTOMBS 30 MEN IN OPEN PIT

Famous Funicular Railway Is Badly Damaged.

PART OF CRATER TUMBLES

Group of Tourists About to Ascend by Road When the Shock With Heavy Detonations Occurred.

Naples, March 12.—A severe earthquake, accompanied by strong detonations from Mount Vesuvius, occurred last evening.

Investigations showed that a great landslide had dropped from the upper part of the crater. It is estimated that it measured 1,000 by 250 feet, and when it fell it caused enormous clouds of smoke.

Noted Railway Damaged.

The Funicular railway was badly damaged. A party of tourists were about to ascend by the railway when the shock occurred.

The Funicular railway has been entirely put out of commission by previous eruptions, but so profitable has the tourist travel been that the road has always been rebuilt.

Road Runs Over Lava.

The road runs over lava beds its entire length, but was regarded as safe until this new eruption.

CAMORRA TRIAL HITS SNAG

Talesmen Avoid Service in Case of Thirty-Six Facing Verbo Court.

Viterbo, Italy, March 12.—The trial of Enrico Alfano and the 35 other members of the Neapolitan Camorra for murder, formal proceedings in which began Saturday, is confronted with serious obstacles and is likely, if present conditions continue, to be considerably delayed.

A provisional jury was selected in part by the president of the court in order officially to begin the case, but difficulties were at once encountered with the talesmen, many of whom either offered protest for not serving in the case or took themselves to another district.

President Minichiello endeavored by threats of severe punishment to induce others to fulfill their civic obligations, but in vain.

The authorities are making strenuous efforts to obtain men qualified and willing to sit in the jury box, but fear of the Camorra and threats that have been circulated during the last month offer almost insurmountable barriers to the selection of the 12 regular jurors.

Never before has there been such an evasion of jury duty.

FREED OF BRIBERY CHARGE

Illinois Legislators Declared "Not Guilty" of Conspiracy in Connection With Furniture Contracts.

Springfield, Ill., March 12.—After three and one-half hours' deliberation, during which time about twenty-one ballots were taken, the jury in the trial of State Senator Stanton C. Pemberton of Oakland and of former representative Joseph B. Clark of Vandalia, who are charged with entering into a conspiracy to secure money corruptly for their votes in awarding the contract for the furnishing of the senate and house chambers of the statehouse, returned a verdict of "not guilty."

At the first trial, two months ago, the jury failed to agree.

Pemberton and Clark were members of a special committee named by the legislature to purchase furniture for the house of representatives. It was charged that they attempted to secure a bribe from representatives of furniture companies, which bid on the contract.

U. S. HAS DEADLY EXPLOSIVE

Hudson Maxim Declares It Will Prove Envy of Every Nation in the World.

Boeton, March 12.—That the United States government controls a brand new explosive which will prove the envy of every nation in the world was the declaration of Hudson Maxim, the inventor.

"This new explosive," said Mr. Maxim, "will prove a revelation in warfare, and will do almost everything except, perhaps, blow the whole crust off the earth. The value of this explosive lies in the fact it will send a projectile through any armor, and the explosion will not take place until after this projectile has passed through the armor."

Four Negro Firemen Killed.

Somerset, Ky., March 12.—Four negro firemen have been killed, one defective fatally wounded and three others negroes shot at Glenharry, Tenn. It is alleged by sympathizers of the striking firemen on the Queen & Crescent route.

Arrest Two for Murder.

Denver, Col., March 12.—Dr. C. W. Wright and Leo Neulahr were arrested on charges of murdering Philip Schuch, Jr., by poison. It was supposed Schuch had died from heart disease, but an autopsy showed arsenical poisoning.

Little Bed-Time Tales By EDITH HAVENS

Aunt Emma's Long Story

TAD and Bess were fond of listening to stories after they had gone to bed, and sometimes their Aunt Emma would sit in a rocking chair between their beds and tell them about Cinderella, Red Ridinghood and other people who live in fairy tales.

One night after Aunt Emma had promised to tell the children a story she was invited to the theater and she was very anxious for them to go to sleep at once. So she made up a story that she was sure would make the little folk very drowsy. "Once upon a time," she began, "there were millions and millions and millions of honey bees who lived in a hive much larger than this house. One day when the bees all happened to be away from home there came a great army of wicked wasps who sealed up the hive so that the bees could not get into it again. After they had finished their work the wasps flew away laughing to think how angry the bees would be when they found that they could not enter their home."

"What did they seal the hive with, Aunt Emma?" Tad wanted to know. "I haven't an idea. Tad, for I was not there when they did it. When the millions and millions and millions of bees returned they were fully as angry as the wasps had expected them to be, and they buzzed very loudly and wondered who could have served them such a trick. "Finally one of their number found a little hole that he could go through by working slowly and sneezing himself as he entered it.

So he buzzed and buzzed and squeezed his way through it. Then another bee buzzed and buzzed and squeezed his way in. Then another bee buzzed and squeezed his way in. After his aunt had gone on like this for ten minutes Tad asked, "But, Aunt Emma, what did the bees do after they got in?"

"I can't tell you until all the bees go into the hive and there are still millions and millions and millions of them waiting to go in, for, as I said, they can only go in one at a time and that with considerable difficulty."

"She went on squeezing her bees through the hole for another ten minutes and Bess inquired, 'Aren't they nearly all in by this time, Aunt Emma?'"

"Oh, no. There are still millions and millions and millions of bees to go through that little hole," she replied.

"Then go ahead, Aunt Emma," said Tad cheerfully. "We can stand it as long as you can."

But Aunt Emma found that she couldn't "stand it," and the children never heard the end of the story.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

A SPIRITUAL MILLIONAIRE.

Austin W. Mann died in January of this year.

Who was he? You will not find his name in any "Who's Who" book, and outside the deaf mutes of this country and of the world he was not generally known.

Mr. Mann was the spiritual comforter of large of the speechless.

In boyhood, just when he began to realize the use of language, he was deprived of speech and hearing as the result of a severe attack of scarlet fever.

But he made a great struggle to get an education.

In a way he was ambitious.

He wanted to bless and help his brothers and sisters in affliction, those who were forever deaf to the sweet sounds of earth and dumb to the expression of thought and feeling.

He became one of the most cultured of the deaf mutes of the country.

And of them all he was certainly the most gifted.

After a time his attention was attracted to religion, and he became a minister of the gospel. His field of labor was the whole country, and he had no associates or assistants.

He was a sort of minister plenipotentiary to the dumb.

Traveling over many states, often without money to pay expenses, he visited state institutions and cities, where he organized missions and societies for improvement. Sometimes he preached every night in the week.

He labored incessantly.

His personal presence among the deaf mutes was a benediction, and he was everywhere held in utmost affection.

And now—

This man who, though dumb, spoke to souls has gone to his rest, and everywhere, though their lips be mute, there is utter mourning of the spirit among the speechless.

What is a man worth?

The Arabs say, "When a man dies men say, 'How much did he leave?' but the angels say, 'What good deed did he send ahead of him?'"

Mentioned in that way, Austin W. Mann was more than a millionaire—a spiritual multimillionaire.

Read every ad tonight just to get acquainted with the merchants.

Something Lacking.
"I don't like my new gown very well," said the young lady. "The material is awfully pretty, and the style is all right, but it needs something to improve the shape of it." "Why," suggested her dearest friend, "don't you let some other girl wear it?"

What Chance Has He?
Johnny—"Grandpa, do lions go to heaven?"
Grandpa—"No, Johnny."
Johnny—"Well, do ministers?"
Grandpa—"Why, of course. Why do you ask?"
Johnny—"Well, suppose a lion eats a minister?"—Life.

The Benefits of Travel.

The benefits of travel are priceless. An attraction that imparts these benefits without the hardships of actual travel is certainly worth a score or more of the usual dramatic offerings. Of course the only one attraction in America that fills this mission. It is needless to say that attraction which returns to the Myers Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday March 15-16, with a special matinee for school children at 4 o'clock Thursday, with an entirely new program.

Illustration of the actors of "A German Prince" in their costumes.

nearly every scene are enhanced and intensified by presentations in the actual colors of nature. This visualization the excursion through India, China and Georgia De L'Arche in France, to a degree of perfection that cannot be described.

A ride in a delightful balloon over Switzerland another on the swiftest motor boat in the world—the trials of 800 horse power; a ramble through the fashionable, financial, political and historic London; spectacular dynamiting of big buildings in Messina; building and launching an ocean palace the White Star Line Olympic; landing passengers in a rough sea at Tunis; dissolving portraits of prominent Americans; a dangerous though bloodless bull fight in Spain, comprise only a few of the many big features of the new program.

AL. H. (METZ) WILSON.
Al. H. Wilson, the German dialect comedian who comes to the Myers Theatre on Monday Eve, March 13 as the central character in his most successful comedy "A German Prince" will no doubt be given a warm reception by his many admirers in this city, who, by the way, are legion. Wilson's rich, clear voice is like wine—it improves with age. His songs seem sweeter than ever, and it is a safe guess that when he presents "A German Prince" there will be a great demand for "My Queen of Dreams," one of the new songs written and composed by Mr. Wilson especially for this production. Manager Sydney R. Ellis is crediting with providing a strong supporting company, and this fact alone should be enough to assure a fine performance without mentioning the many innovations that have been made in the nature of scenic, mechanical and electrical effects.

THE BEST FOR EVERY DAY.
There should be nothing too good for every day use. The custom of keeping the best for "company" is wastefulness, and the man who said, "What is good enough for my family is good enough for any guest that may come here" was quite right.

There is altogether too much of saying for strangers. We save our kindest word, our brightest smile and our most cordial handshake for the stranger who may chance to cross our path, while our own hunger for these same things.

The world hasn't much use for the man or woman who gives the best of material things to the people outside the home circle, neglecting every desire and longing of their own people. The world hasn't much use for the man who neglects his family and spends his money freely upon others outside this relationship. Such a man is usually held in contempt and placed among the social renegades. Yet nearly all of us are negligently in our expenditure of the things worth while.

We spoil our relationships in life by being chary with those things that make for the happiness of ourselves and others. How often do we think to give the bright smile of encouragement and the word of praise to the patient housewife? How often do we think to cheer up the tired and worn out mother? How often do we think of giving our best to our husband and father who stands all day on the firing line fighting for the things that provide the material comforts of home? How often do we think of the kiss and the hug that means so much to the little children in our homes? How often do we think of the joyous salutation to the aged members of the family—a salutation that means so very much to people on the sunset slopes of life?

How many of us ever think to tell our fellow workers of our appreciation of their work? How many of us ever think it worth while to tell the school teacher that her interest in our children is appreciated? How many of us ever think of telling the preacher that his services are good?

And yet these things help to make life brighter and better. The housewife likes to know that her work is appreciated. The old grandmother and grandfather like to know that they are not out of the kindly thought of the younger folk. The little child likes praise and loving and cuddling. The teacher and the preacher are human; and because they are, are susceptible to the knowledge that their work is appreciated. We are all human and this is part of the compensation all of us expect for our work.

Life isn't half as sweet without these things as it is with them. Then only to be brought out for "company." Why not make them a part—the sauce as it were—of every day living?

Most of us lead lives apparently indifferent to any of these things, but we're not. Just as we love the sunshine and the flowers, we love these things, and because we love them we should have them. Let the guest who happens along break bread with us, but let it be the bread in common use with us. Let it not be something held too sacred for familiar uses.

Students Aid Doctor to Prevent Man From Going to Sleep After Taking Poison.

Bloomington, Ind., March 13.—A sixteen-hour Marathon for life resulted in victory for Thomas Easton, a would-be suicide, thanks to the assistance of a number of Indiana university students who aided in the wild chase to keep the man from going to sleep after taking poison which meant sure death if he went to sleep.

Easton thought better of life after swallowing poison and consulted a physician, who called in the students. At a skating rink Easton was forced to keep on the go for 16 hours, wet towels being used unmercifully on his back.

AMENDMENTS THAT MAY KILL MEASURE

Workmen's Compensation Bill to Be Subject to Radical Changes by Committee.

[Special to this Gazette.]
Madison, Wis., March 12.—A radical amendment of the workmen's compensation bill, which may render it more difficult of passage, is said to be in prospect. The special committee which has the measure in charge has done nothing on it, but is said to be waiting to come to a decision as to whether to report it out in its present form or to make an important change. This change is the elimination of all the personal injury defenses, as a measure of coercion, instead of leaving in force the defense of contributory negligence and wiping out those of assumption of risk and fellow servant.

Therefore it had not been deemed wise to abolish the contributory negligence doctrine, as it was thought it would be necessary to do this to prevent opposition from the agricultural interests, representing a large class of employers of only a few men. However, several who have investigated the matter fear that to abolish two defenses and leave one would render the proposed law unconstitutional as improper discrimination.

Before any decision is reached by the supporters of the bill, it is likely that a careful canvass of the assembly will be taken, and there is hope that enough votes may be secured to pass it in whatever form it goes through the senate.

A general public hearing on various pending bills relating to liability for personal injury, which would be virtually imperative in case the workmen's compensation bill passes, will be held in the assembly chamber next Wednesday afternoon, March 15. Other general hearings scheduled for this week are the women's suffrage meeting Tuesday afternoon, a symposium on the various bills to repeal or strengthen the laws relating to the tuberculin test of cattle on Thursday afternoon and employment of prison labor on Friday.

The following work will be mostly "liquor week." On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, evenings, March 22, 23 and 24, the subjects will be, respectively, "County option," "Extension of the dry zone surrounding educational institutions," and "Independent vs. Brewery Control." The first hearing of that week, on Tuesday, will be on the subject of taxation of life insurance companies.

BAR STRIKE BREAKERS

ADAMS EXPRESS WILL NOT EMPLOY PROFESSIONALS.

Second Walk-Out of Drivers and Helpers at New York May Spread to All Companies.

New York, March 12.—The Adams Express company, whose drivers and helpers have gone on a second strike, will not engage any professional strike breakers to fill the vacant positions. This was learned from an authoritative source from a man who acted as spokesman for the company. Men who come from detective agencies will be ignored.

The idea of not employing professional strike-breakers, it is said, is because of the many thefts that occurred during the recent strike, and the second reason, it is said, is that the company hopes to secure public sympathy. Reports around the various headquarters of drivers who are members of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, were to the effect that the drivers and helpers of the "big four" which consists of the United States, Wells-Fargo, National and the American Express companies, would also go out on a sympathetic strike.

The demands of the Adams Express company's men is that certain employees who have been discharged be reinstated and that business agents of the unions and committees shall be permitted to carry on their activities on the property of the company.

The second strike followed after the company had refused to reinstate certain discharged men.

At the present time all the express companies are loaded down with all sorts of merchandise.

Although it was said that no action had been taken toward asking the International Brotherhood of Teamsters to join the strike of the express drivers and call out a general strike, Valentine Hoffman, vice-president of the International Brotherhood was quoted as saying that a general strike will, in all probability, be called Tuesday, when a general council meeting is to be held.

LEOPOLD'S DAUGHTER IS ILL

Countess Longay, Widow of Crown Prince Rudolph, Stricken—Her Condition Is Critical.

Zurich, Switzerland, March 12.—Archduchess Stephanie, Countess Longay, the second daughter of King Leopold of Belgium and widow of Crown Prince Rudolph of Austria, is seriously ill here. Her condition is the cause of grave anxiety.

Stephanie was estranged from her father, this dating back to King Leopold's ill-treatment of his wife. She took her mother's part and was driven out of Brussels.

She returned to the palace to attend Queen Henriette's funeral, but the king would not permit her to enter the death chamber.

The inheritance of the three princelings amounted to about $4,000,000.

SLAIN IN SHOOTING DUEL

Young Tennessean Is Killed When He Attempts to Shoot Sister's Lover—Latter Wounded.

Newport, Tenn., March 12.—A young man who he considered was the honor of his family, Kidwell McSwain, only son of Col. W. J. McSwain, a prominent Tennessean politician, met John Pritchett, his sister's lover, and engaged in a duel in which he was instantly killed and Pritchett was probably fatally injured. The McSwain family had objected to Pritchett's attentions to Miss Emma McSwain.

It is said that McSwain made the statement that it was necessary for either he or his father to kill Pritchett and he could be spared the better.

BOSTON BROKER IS ARRESTED

Robert S. Brown, Accused of Forging George C. Draper's Name on Note—$80,000 Involved.

Boston, March 12.—The police announced that Robert S. Brown, a State street broker, was arrested in New York at their request. The Boston police hold a warrant charging Brown with having forged the signature of George C. Draper, son of the late Gen. William F. Draper, former ambassador to Italy, to a note for $2,000 on September 19 last.

Inspector Morris Wolf, who has had charge of the investigation of the alleged forgeries, said that in his opinion forgeries amounting to more than $80,000 had been committed.

HOTEL GUESTS IN FIRE PANIC

Dozen Jump From Second-Story Windows of Cincinnati Hostelry—None Are Seriously Hurt.

Cincinnati, March 12.—Fire which broke out on the fifth floor of the Muhre hotel at Seventh and Race streets shortly after midnight caused a panic among the guests. About a dozen persons jumped from the second story and some sustained slight injuries, but none was seriously hurt. Firemen with ladders rescued several guests from upper floor rooms. The damage to the hotel was principally confined to the fifth floor.

WILL TAKE UP TARIFF

UNDERWOOD SAYS CONGRESS WILL NOT BE CURBED.

Ways and Means Committee Begin Formation of Plans for Legislation at Special Session.

Washington, March 12.—The Democratic ways and means committee today began consideration of legislative plans for the majority during the special session of congress which opens April 4.

In a statement issued by Chairman Underwood of the committee he announced with emphasis that there is to be tariff revision legislation passed by the house. This is in answer to President Taft, who intimated in a southern speech that there might be nothing more done at this session than the passage of the Canadian reciprocity pact.

"The president was assured by both Mr. Clark and myself," says Mr. Underwood, "that the Democratic majority, if called into special session, would undertake a downward revision of the tariff, cutting the schedules to a tariff for revenue basis. There can have been no misunderstanding about this."

VESUVIUS SLIDE FOLLOWS QUAKE

Only Four of Track Laying Gang Escape Avalanche.

BODIES GROUND TO SHREDS

Victims Are Torn to Pieces in Rush of Rocks and Snow—Work of Rescue Attended with Great Difficulties.

Virginia, Minn., March 12.—Death in the form of 600,000 tons of iron ore, rock, earth, ice and snow shot down upon 30 tracklayers working in the Norman open pit mine here.

Only four who were working on the outer edge, had a chance to run, and escaped the avalanche. Three of these are in a hospital suffering from probably fatal injuries.

The place that was an open pit before the slide is a choked area of rock and ore and earth, with here and there parts of a body in sight. An army of men with shovels is working desperately to recover the bodies. The work is tedious and pursued under extreme difficulties.

Men Ground to Shreds.

It will be days before the bodies can be recovered and all the parts of many probably never will be assembled. The mass of rock and earth ground many of them into shreds.

The name of only one victim could be learned, Paul Paulson, a widower, who leaves seven children. His wife died a month ago.

The miners who were taking up one of the two tracks in the pit in order to permit the great steam shovel to work in another section of the mine were for the most part bent over with bars and claws when the avalanche swept them into eternity. There was no chance for anybody to move a foot.

MINE OFFICIALS IN CHARGE

Chief of Police Ellis Walsh was notified of the accident by one of the mine engineers. He hastened to the mine, which is about three-quarters of a mile outside the city limits, but found that the forces of the Oliver Mining company were amply able to take care of the situation from the standpoint of preventing undue confusion. The women and children who had lost their husbands and fathers talked in their native tongue to the men who were shoveling.

BLAST VICTIM IS BURIED

Simple Services Are Held Over Remains of E. H. Thompson, Killed by Big Powder Explosion.

Kenosha, Wis., March 12.—Powder workers from many cities in the country came to Kenosha to attend the simple funeral service held over the remains of E. H. Thompson, the one victim of the powder blasts at Pleasant Prairie Thursday night. The funeral was held only after a long discussion between the coroner and the friends of the dead man, as the coroner had threatened to delay the funeral pending the finding of more of the body or the better establishment of the identity of the portions of the body found. He finally consented to sign a death certificate and permit the interment of the remains.

Light-tone coatings in many new fabrics are shown, including Basket Weaves, Novelty Worsteds, black and white Check Cloths and Mottled Worsteds. New interpretations of the raglan and peasant sleeves reveal many clever innovations.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By MUTH CAMERON.

"A. HOW rare it is to find a soul still enough to hear God speak!" Will I be considered sacrilegious if I use that incomparable sentence to introduce a somewhat similar thought?

"How rare it is to find a mind silent enough to listen to the wisdom of other minds."

A great statesman whose knowledge of many subjects and consequent breadth of mind was the wonder of all he met, was introduced to a sheep rancher one day and straightway began to question him about the raising of sheep.

The rancher was astonished at the fund of previous information the questions showed.

A Latin professor happened to be in the group. "He knows just as much about archeology," said this professor. "I think he knows of encyclopedias. Tell us, senator, how you find time to read and study up on so many subjects."

The senator laughed. "I don't find time to read much at all," he said, "and when I do I read mostly Congressional records and poetry."

"Well, how DO you do it then?" persisted the rancher.

"Well," said the senator, "I guess it's just this. All my life I've made it a rule to let the other fellow talk as much as possible. And to make him talk of something he knows about. Every man you meet has some specialities that he knows more about than you do. If, instead of telling him what you know, you let him tell you, you stand to learn something. I've been doing that for forty years now and I find it works pretty well."

If all of us followed the senator's rule, of course there would be trouble, because everybody would be trying to listen and there would be nobody to talk.

But as long as human nature is what it is, I don't believe there is much danger of such a dire state of affairs.

"Let the other fellow talk and make him talk of something he knows a lot about," is a motto that most of us could follow more closely than we do, to our advantage.

Doubtless the reason Emerson was so great a teacher was that he realized that the youngest of his pupils COULD teach him something.

It was planned, it is said, to make formal announcement of the engagement at the reunion of the Taft Philippine party, at the Dupont Circle residence of Miss Mabel Boardman. Mrs. Corbin, however, was not present at the reunion, and the announcement will be made at some other time. Mrs. Corbin is spending the Lenten season in Florida.

Easy Desserts. The following dessert can be made in five, and cooked in fifteen minutes:

Fifteen Minute Pudding.—Mix together a cup of flour and two teaspoonsful of baking powder, pinch of salt. Moisten with rich milk to a consistency of drop batter. Butter five or six small cups and put a little of the mixture in the bottom of each cup, add a tablespoonful of canned cherries, juice and all, and then a little more of the flour mixture. When all are ready, set these cups into a kettle of boiling water, using care not to have enough to boil over into the cups. Cover tightly and boil 15 minutes. Serve with whipped cream or a sauce made from the juice of the cherries slightly thickened and seasoned with butter to add richness.

Cottage Pudding.—Cream a quarter of a cup of butter, add a cup of sugar, one egg well beaten, a half a cup of milk and a cup of flour sifted with two teaspoonsful of baking powder. Bake in a shallow pan and cut in squares. Serve with a sauce made of a cup of sugar, two tablespoonsful of flour well mixed, and a cup of boiling water. Cook until smooth, then add a tablespoonful of vinegar, a few grains of nutmeg and two tablespoonsful of butter.

Lemon Sauce.—Mix together a cup of sugar and a tablespoonful of flour; add a cup of water boiling, a tablespoonful of butter and two tablespoonsful of lemon juice and a little of the grated rind. Stir in carefully, a well-beaten yolk.

Fruit Dessert.—Peel and scrape three bananas and press them through a vegetable ricer, add a small box of crushed strawberries, reserving part of the juice. Heat together lightly, and set on ice to cool. Serve in glass cups with sweetened whipped cream, to which has been added the juice of the strawberries. Serve very cold.

Angel Parfait.—Boil a cup of sugar and a third of a cup of water until honey-like in consistency. Pour over the well-beaten whites of two eggs; add a half teaspoonful of vanilla, add a pint of whipped cream. ### TOAST AND MILK.

By living on toast and milk exclusively for three months a merchant reduced his weight 80 pounds without inconvenience. Milk does not combine perfectly with any other food, but with toast or stale white bread, it is better for the average adult than milk alone. Milk is not a natural food for the adult and the coarse curd of cow's milk is digested with great difficulty by most persons, often putrefying by being delayed in the stomach on account of faulty motor activity, and causing poisoning. The toast breaks up the curd, and being itself more quickly digested than whole cereal bread forms a better combination than ordinary bread and milk. Milk has an excess of protein and the starch converted into sugar, largely, in toast, balances this.

Shapes for Spring

BY JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

THREE of the prettiest shapes among the new hats for spring are shown here. One might choose with the eyes shut and be sure of possessing grace, style and real beauty in any of these. They fit well and are only moderately large.

Hemp and millan appear to lead in the point of popularity, but there are innumerable lovely models in other braids as well—hair braid, pyroxylin, chip, lagoon, tucan, in fact every braid, including the rough braid, finds a following, and there is no lack of variety in size or shape.

The hair braid and humps are greatly favored for dress hats to be trimmed with French plumes and lace or ribbon—or both. Millan and humps are fitted for big masses of flowers. Many of these trimmed with big bunches of lilacs are blooming in triumph at Palm Beach just now.

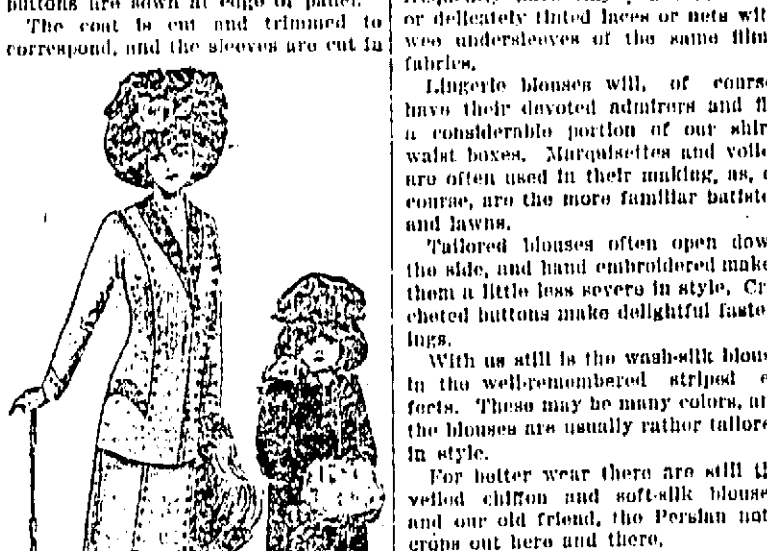

A great many shapes are shown with borders (called "flanges") of velvet, and some are faced with velvet. Small shapes with upturned brims nearly always are improved by a velvet facing on the brim or coronet. The velvet flange is an undoubted advantage, adding finish and distinction to the shape. Its placing is a matter of perfect workmanship.

It will be noticed that crowns in the hats are conservative; they are not especially large or high or noticeable in any way. The achievement of

Nut Cake

Simply Delicious
By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Eastern Cooking School Magazine

In giving this recipe, Mrs. Hill believes it to be one of the best all-around the recipes it has been her good fortune to make. The simplicity and uniformly good results will appeal to every housewife.

One-half cup butter; 1 1/2 cups granulated sugar; 3/4 cup milk; 2 cups flour; 2 level teaspoons K. C. Baking Powder; 1 cup of nut meats chopped fine; whites of 4 eggs, beaten dry.

Sift flour and baking powder together, three times. Cream the butter, add the sugar, then alternately the milk and the flour mixture; lastly the whites of eggs and the nut meats. Bake in a sheet in a shallow pan thirty or forty minutes. When cold cover with the icing and decorate with whole nut meats. This is also an excellent white cake recipe when nuts are omitted.

Chocolate Icing
One cup granulated sugar; 1/2 ounce chocolate, white of 1 egg, beaten dry; 1/2 teaspoonful vanilla extract; 1/2 cup butter.

Stir the sugar, chocolate and water until the mixture boils; cover and let boil three minutes. Uncover and let boil till when tested in cold water a soft ball may be formed; beat into the white of egg, then beat until cold, add vanilla.

The nut caramel frosting given on page forty of the K. C. Cook's Book may be used in place of the chocolate frosting, if desired. A copy of the Cook's Book, handsomely illustrated in 9 colors, will be mailed free, if you will send the colored certificate packed in 2-cent cut of K. C. Baking Powder to the Jagers 539, C. Co., Chicago.

"One Touch of Nature Makes the Whole World Kin."

When a rooster finds a big fat worm he calls all the hens in the farm yard to come and share it. A similar trait of human nature is to be observed when a man discovers something exceptionally good—he wants all his friends and neighbors to share the benefits of his discovery. This is the touch of nature that makes the whole world kin. This explains why people who have been cured by Meritol Cough Remedy write letters to the manufacturers for publication, that others similarly ailing may also use it and obtain relief. Behind every one of these letters is a warm heartfelt wish of the writer to be of use to someone else. This remedy is for sale by the Reliable Drug Co., druggists, members of American Drug & Press Association.

Among the novelties and new things suggested for spring are waists of foulard silk. They are made up usually of soft spring colorings in the new and fashionable printed designs, and frequently have tiny yokes of white or delicately tinted lace or nets with wee undersleeves of the same filmy fabrics.

Lingerie blouses will, of course, have their devoted admirers and fill a considerable portion of our shirt-waist boxes. Marquisettes and volles are often used in their making, as, of course, are the more familiar batistes and lawns.

Tailored blouses often open down the side, and hand embroidered makes them a little less severe in style. Crocheted buttons make delightful fastenings.

With us still is the wash-silk blouse in the well-remembered striped effects. These may be many colors, and the blouses are usually rather tailored in style.

For better wear there are still the velveteen chiffon and soft-silk blouses, and our old friend, the Persian note, crops out here and there.

Novel Collar.

The string ties which women are wearing with their tailored shirt waists come in the loveliest of colors. The materials used are innumerable, but all, of course, have the silky finish.

A novel collar shows to good advantage a string tie of eel blue-corded silk. The high, straight, turn-down collar fastens in front. Wide, vertical eyelet silks appear around the collar at intervals of about two inches, and through these is run the tie, which is knotted in front in four-in-hand fashion.

Blue to Violet.

To change the color of blue prints to violet place them in a solution of household ammonia, one ounce to a pint of water. Do not wash the prints after soaking them in the ammonia solution. A stronger or weaker bath may be used as the prints seem to require. One can also get a better print from a thin negative by printing through a sheet of ground paper.

THE VALUE TO US OF A GOOD NAME

WAS SUBJECT OF SERMON BY
REV. J. C. HAZEN LAST EVENING.

NAME OF JUDAS ISCARIOT

Standing As it Does, for Shame and Disgrace, Teaches Value of Striving for Good Name.

Using the third chapter of Mark, nineteenth verse, as his text, Rev. J. C. Hazen of the First Baptist church delivered an interesting sermon last evening on "What there is in a name." For a living example of what a name may mean in reality, the minister of the gospel chose the name of Judas Iscariot, the very name which brings to our minds the character of the man.

"In the naming of the twelve men," he said, "who were chosen as the disciples of Christ, the last named, Judas Iscariot, came in to shame. We feel that that is one name and character that we would like to leave out of the Bible entirely. We would like to take him away from the association with the name of Christ. In the naming of the disciples Peter is the first mentioned and Judas the last. The former appears to us as a real man in spite of his faults, one who in the end came around and made himself right with the cause of his Lord."

The last named, however, who was the last named, we find a man who started out right, but who does not come out right in the end. Peter had his faults but was a lovable character who finally shows his true worth. But Judas is a name which typifies to us a man whose name we consider a blot on the face of Bible history, a disgrace to mankind.

"Name is everything and is, in a word, a portrayal of the life of the man. The name is a more title to the life of the person and when it is spoken the life and character of the one named comes to our minds. And then from such a life as Judas', our mind is allowed to take two or three things which may be of benefit to us in ours. The name then, is just a label either of good or bad by which we may judge of the character of the person. All you have to do is to speak the name and the life of the person who possesses it is read into it. In short it is what men and women take down off the shelf and judge you by."

"Judas must have known what the future had in store for Judas Iscariot, even when he chose him as one of the disciples. This must have been the case, as the Master knows the future of every one of us and realizing this, we may see the fact that it was the will of God that Judas should have an equal chance before him. So he extended the privilege to Judas to come into our lives and had he passed him by we, no, should feel that the Master had no place for us in his circle. We might feel as if the Savior could say 'you cannot come in, the inner circle is too sacred for such as you,' and it would have the effect of killing all hope in our breasts. But instead of that, we find him giving a chance to this Judas, knowing as he did, what was to be the outcome. This should make us feel on second thought that we are glad that Judas chose Judas and let him come into our lives as he did."

"In the life of every man, at some time, he comes into contact with God and either comes away better or worse. Judas entered into his new life and being associated with Christ day in and day out for a long time, deliberately sold him for a few pieces of silver. It did not come to him suddenly, but grew upon him gradually. "Peter, after denying the Lord, came to him and made it right and was rewarded. Judas, after betraying him, wanted to kill himself, and the truth of his life was a disgrace. The Master showed how Judas might have come around right but did not. The same is true of all of us. We are shown how we all may yet come around and be rather like John, Peter and the rest than like Judas. The name you wear is determined by your life and the life by the heart. The time is now for everyone to start to make his life such that his name will stand for the best, and may be loved in the history of the family and the community. This cannot be done at the time of death, but must be a process of everyday life. The name of John means one who was loved by Christ, while that of Judas is a name which is a label for disgrace."

ENGAGE NEW HEAD FOR THE SEMINARY

Dr. Richard Blows Elected President of Evansville School To Sue, said Rev. A. L. Whitcomb.

(Special to the Gazette.)

Evansville, March 12.—The board of trustees of the Evansville Seminary have engaged Dr. Richard Blows to succeed Rev. A. L. Whitcomb as president and Prof. Charles A. Stoll as vice president. Dr. Blows is not a stranger in Evansville, as he was a former student at the Seminary, and after finishing here he entered Greenville college and was graduated from that hall of learning with the Ph. D. degree. He has also taken a master's degree from the University of Wisconsin. For the past year he has been engaged as one of the faculty of Greenville college, where he was had of the department of history. Prof. Richard B. Blows, the new president, is little known here but comes with a reputation that is hard to equal and the Seminary is very fortunate in securing the services of both these gentlemen, as they are well fitted to hold the positions which they have been selected to fill. Prof. Blows was graduated from Greenville college in 1901 with the A. B. degree. The following year at the request of the board of trustees, he took charge of the Greek department of his alma mater. He then entered Columbia University as a graduate student and completed the work in classics for the master's degree. During the same year he did research work in the Greek and Latin courses for material to be used in the American revision of the over-clothes Bible. Prof. Blows then accepted a position on the faculty of Cornell University in the department of Ancient History. At the same time he pursued graduate work in Greek and Latin. In 1907 he was granted a leave of absence from Cornell to take special courses in the University of Berlin, Germany. He collaborated with and assisted Prof. G. W. Holsford of Columbia University in the composition of the "Thomas-Alexander," a scholarly volume recently published in 1909. Prof. Blows resigned his position on the faculty of Cornell University to become the Dean of Greenville college and to accept the professorship of classics. When his term of office expires in June he will come to Evansville to assume the duties of the Presidency of the Evansville Seminary.

R. D. Gorman and J. W. Stewart returned Friday to their home in Monroe, having been here to spend a few days at the home of E. Gabriel. Rev. and Mrs. Forest of Rutland, have moved into a part of Mrs. Margaret Warner's house on Franklin street.

The members of Mrs. H. R. P. Richardson's class in music gave a recital at her home Friday evening, March 10. An excellent program was much enjoyed by the parents and friends in attendance. Those who took part were Miss Hazel Sweeney of Edgerton, and the Misses Bernadine Gilman, Mildred Blakeley, Martin Davis, Lucile Earle, Helen Skimming, Madeline Apfel, Irene Libby and Beadie Brown.

Charley E. Sarvin has sold his house on Main street to John Henderson of the town of Porter.

"Would it be any harm to deceive her about my age?" inquired the elderly millionaire.
"Probably not."
"I'm sixty. How would it do to come to fifty?"
"I think your chances would be better with her if you claimed seventy-five."

LEGISLATURE HAS MAPPED OUT WORK

substantive to the great majority of people who believe that having tuberculosis is communicable to human beings.

On Friday the question of prison labor will be considered. The social democrats do not believe that prison labor should compete with free labor and they have several bills in the legislature to prevent that. They want the prisoners to be employed on road building and similar work which would not bring them directly into competition with the free workmen. The bills providing for the equipping and operating the slender twin factory at the state prison will be among those considered. The state has built a twin factory at the prison, but has never put it into operation because of lack of what is called a "revolving fund," or money to carry on the business of buying raw materials and meeting expenses generally until the product is finished, sold and paid for. The bills appropriate $100,000 for a "revolving fund."

The new state board of control, which has charge of the prisons, asylums and other similar institutions of Wisconsin, has organized by electing W. H. Grabner of Milwaukee as president, and is getting to work. It is generally believed that Gov. McGovern made excellent appointments to this board. The charges of misconduct and incompetency against Deputy Warden John Raunel of the state prison at Waupun created some surprise, as the management of the institution had generally been considered exceptionally good. The legislative staffs investigating the conditions of the ten different state establishments and penal institutions, took a straw vote on the competency and adaptability of the superintendents for their duties and Dr. W. H. Grabner of the home for the feeble minded at Chippewa Falls ranked first; Warden Towne of the prison, second; Dr. Conn of the tuberculosis sanitarium at Wales, third; and Dr. Gort of the insane asylum at Menasha, fourth. Supt. Bright of the state home for dependent children at Sparta ranked last.

State Oil Inspector Louis F. Meyer, who recently took office, is regarded as one of the good appointments made by the governor. The inspector has had several bills introduced in the legislature which are designed to increase the value of the department to the public. One of these measures proposes for adding a gravity test to the explosive test of kerosene, which will give the consumer some idea of the flameless quality of oil. Since the gasoline inspection law was passed the quality of that product shipped into Wisconsin has been bettered and the consumer is now able to tell from inspection cards on tanks and barrels whether he is being defrauded or not.

Gov. McGovern has indicated by his appointment of former Secretary of State Thomas J. Cunningham of Chippewa Falls as a member of the state oil inspection commission that he intends to what he can to maintain the state oil service on the plane on which it has been shown Senator La Follette had the law passed. It is understood the state service has been notably improved by the merit system. The White bill providing for a spring season for shooting waterfowl in Wisconsin, will come before the senate Tuesday night. The House bill permitting the killing of quail between October 10 and November 1 will also come up at that time. The latter measure would open the quail season for the first time in the past fourteen years. The law now in effect limits the time for this sport for four more years.

CARDINALS BEATEN AFTER HARD FIGHT

Local Basketball Team Lost Game
Saturday Night to University
Freshmen by One Point.

After battling stubbornly for forty minutes and keeping even with their opponents, the Lakota Cardinals basketball team lost Saturday night in the contest at the West Side rink to the Freshman basketball team of the University of Wisconsin, the latter winning by one point, 23 to 22.

The victory for the Varsity players was in doubt up until the last few minutes of play, as the Cardinals were sticking close to the Freshmen throughout the entire game. At the outset neither side scored, but after about five minutes' struggle during which time the ball went back and forth, O'Connell of the Freshmen, dropped in a basket from the field. Robertson made the first tally for the Cardinals on a free throw. Harper made a basket on a foul and then Green tied the score by a spectacular toss to the Freshmen's goal. The Freshmen jumped into the lead, scoring six points in one, two, three order, but in the last few minutes of the first half, the Cardinals tied this. Green making a sensational throw to the basket. The score at the end of the half, 9 and 9.

The second half saw both sides fighting as stubbornly as in the opening session. Murphy took Beers' place and played a fine game in the guard position. Madison again made the first basket on a lucky toss by Van Gent, their center. Janesville tied this, but Madison advanced and took a slight lead, which the Cardinals could not entirely take away.

The line-ups and scores:
Freshmen: Van Gent, c; Bradish, f; Harper, f; Curtin, f; O'Connell, f.

Cardinals: Semiet, c; Cunningham, f; Robertson, f; Green, f; Beers and Murphy, f.

Field Goals: Van Gent, 5; Green, 1; Robertson, 3; Bradish, 3; O'Connell, 2; Cunningham, 2; Murphy, 1. Free throws: Robertson, 2; Harper, 1.

PRINTING DEPT. HAS BEEN BUSY

WORK TURNED OUT BY GAZETTE JOB DEPARTMENT FOR LOCAL FIRMS.

MANY HANDSOME BOOKLETS

Printed For the Local Manufacturing
Concerns—Caloric, Parker Pen
Co. and Hanson Company
Have Much Work Done.

In the past few months the printing department of the Gazette has produced a great quantity of the finest grade printing for various local manufacturers, and the fact that the quality of advertising matter which the local concerns are sending out is of higher grade than ever before, speaks well for the enterprise of these institutions.

The Caloric Company are believers in the highest grade of printing in connection with the exploitation of their products. They believe that the use of the paper and artistic designs, together with harmonious color effects, are vital in the interesting of the public in their material.

Recently a run of 50,000 envelope catalogues in two colors was finished for them, together with 100,000 eight page folders on tinted stock, 10,000 color receipt books, bound in cloth, and to be used for the collection of the household, in connection with the Caloric Cooker. Great quantities of folders and artistic pieces of printed matter generally have been produced for these people and there is hardly a town in the United States of any size but that is familiar with the Caloric Co., through the energetic use of their advertising matter.

A large edition of the regular issue of "Side Talks" in colors and of original design and concluding subject matter has recently been finished for the Parker Pen Co. with quantities of smaller work of catchy appearance. The Parker Pen Co. have an enormous mailing list of which includes something over 25,000 dealers so that the amount of printed matter necessary to reach all of these people is considerable. 27,000 7x11 computer display cards in three colors for the use of dealers are a recent production for this company. Many other smaller pieces of business bringing literature for which the Parker Pen Co. are famous, have been printed for them.

Kellogg's Nursery each year produces an illustrated price list and this season's book of 15,000 copies, 32 pages, in color has recently come from the press of the Gazette. These receive generous distribution.

The Housh Studio Corporation are continually sending out high grade advertising matter and recently an order for 13,000 large two color display cards of size 2x11 have been finished for this concern. A quantity of smaller work has also been produced for them.

The Lewis Knitting Co. have recently sent out a series of half sheet display cards in two colors for which they are very popular. The subjects are from original drawings and reproduced into very large half sheet cards. Some 9,000 of these were furnished and a run of 25,000 small catalogues in color and recently a subject made on high grade work have been furnished for advertising purposes.

One of the largest catalogues which has ever been produced here for a manufacturing concern is that recently furnished for the Housh & Bellin Co. consisting of 304 pages of size 9x12, of which there were 2,500 copies. Four tons of paper were used in the manufacture of this book and many cuts of half tone and line drawings were used in illustrating the work. This catalogue compares in size and in all ways with the illustrated books of the largest saddle manufacturers in the country. Its general appearance is striking.

Each year Melay Bros., who are breeders and importers of draft horses, prepare a handsome illustrated catalogue for which much favorable comment is made by those interested in the horse industry. A 72 page book has recently been produced for them in double tone ink, with beautiful half tone illustrations on high grade paper stock. The subjects for the illustrations are the work of Mr. J. Z. Melay who accomplishes excellent results in amateur photography.

Probably one of the finest catalogues which has gone out from Janesville for some time is that of the Hanson Furniture Co., which has recently been finished by the Gazette. No expense was spared in the preparation of the cuts and in the paper stock on which the work was printed. The interior stock was of the finest book enamel and the cover in brown was the double style done in three colors and embossed, making for the entire appearance a rich, attractive book. Special designs for the body with what are known as running heads were secured from the engraver and the entire effect impresses one with the general high quality, not only of the book, but of the Hanson product. There were 1,500 copies of 61 pages distributed among the customers of the Hanson Furniture Co. All of the printed matter of this concern is sent out with a view to having it better than that of their competitors. The fact that each piece is a business getter demonstrates that it pays to use only the best in advertising material.

The Helms Seed Store have just issued a very pretty illustrated descriptive seed catalogue, the product of the Gazette press. The cover is of lithograph design and is very tasteful in appearance. The book will be given wide circulation among the customers of the Helms Store and should be very productive of results.

These are a few of the many large orders produced during the past few months for Janesville manufacturers. Great quantities of small work have been made for various institutions and a large amount of work is in hand at the present time.

Janesville Industries are widely known and the people of this city may feel justly proud of their enterprise. The artisans who have to do with the manufacture of printed matter are of the highest class and the mechanical equipment for producing work of quality is the best obtainable. The Gazette is striving to do the best work at all times.

Eraser in the Laundry.

One instrument of cleanliness found in a first-class laundry is a rubber eraser. "That is needed to rub the pencil marks from cuffs," said the manager. "We used to throw that kind of correspondence into soap water and try to wash it clean, but marks made by some pencils soaked in instead of washing out, and left the cuffs spotted and streaked, so they are now treated to a preliminary dry scrub with an eraser." Then he did both.

Of Course.

A man in a nearby town fell down the cellar steps the other day with a barrel of apples on top of him. He broke his left leg, his right arm, two ribs, his nose, one finger, cut his scalp, sprained his ankle and put his shoulder out of joint. But he didn't groan or cuss until his wife inquired if it "hurt him." Then he did both.

Heart is Best Guide.

The man who offers sympathy to a neighbor and who comforts him in time of trouble can afford to run the risk of being accused of not minding his own business. An act of genuine kindness is readily distinguished from intermeddling. The heart is sometimes a better guide for action than the head.

Household Remedy

Taken in the Spring for Years.

Ralph Rust, White, Mich., writes: "Wood's Sarsaparilla has been a household remedy in our home as long as I can remember. I have taken it in the spring for several years. It has no equal for cleansing the blood and expelling the humors that accumulate during the winter. Being a farmer and exposed to bad weather, my system is often affected, and I often take Wood's Sarsaparilla with good results."

Wood's Sarsaparilla is Pardon to itself. There is no "just as good." Get it today in usual liquid form or tablets called Sarsatabs.

Titaine Tolstol.

Everything in Tolstol's character, an eminent Russian writer says, "attained Titanic proportions. As a drinker he absorbed fantastic quantities of liquor. As a gambler, he terrified his partners by the boldness of his play. As a soldier he advanced gayly to Bastion 4, the bastion of death at Sevastopol, and there he made dying men laugh at his witty sayings. He surpassed every one by his prodigious activity in sport as well as literature."

Hard to Answer.

Little four-year-old Robert, like many other boys of his age, liked to ask questions. So when the first downy chicks came in the spring and his mother saw him studying them most intently, she knew something was coming. And it did, for presently he turned to his mother and asked, "Mamma, are chickens' legs hind legs or front legs?"

M. B. Denison in Woman's Home Companion.

Feats in Climbing.

Not only have some of the peaks near Pontresina been ascended this winter, but also some of the highest mountains in Switzerland, including the Jungfrau. Feats in winter climbing are now often performed which a few years ago would have been considered impossible.

Teach Shoemaking.

Students in the technical school at Northampton, England, one of the manufacturing centers for boots and shoes, get a thorough course in leather and footwear manufacture.

The Honorable Senator Sagebrush

By FRANCIS LYNDE

Copyright, 1910, by Street & Smith

"What did you do?" snapped the vice president.

"I mailed him what purported to be a carbon copy of the legal notice of a reduction. He doesn't know yet that he has the only copy—that the notice hasn't been posted in our stations, as the law directs. I'm hoping that he won't find it out until after tomorrow, when it won't make any special difference."

Mr. McVickar frowned again.

"Your expedients have all been pretty crude, Gantry. You seem to persistently forget that you are dealing with a mighty sharp, shrewd young lawyer; that the chances are ten to one that young Blount discovered your plan at once. Go back to the city and think up some scheme that will keep him busy today, too busy to smell out the facts in the Grysoun matter."

Gantry got up and stood with his back to the fire.

"I'm all in, Mr. McVickar, and that's the humiliating fact. There isn't another idea left in me," he confessed despairingly. "Can't you help us out a little, Mr. McVickar?"

Holding thus put face to face with the lurking test, the vice president did not hesitate a moment.

"Of course," he grated. "If I have to do your thinking for you, go back and get into communication with Grysoun. Tell him the time has come to play the same game on young Blount that he played four years ago on Hetheridge, the speaker of the house. He'll understand."

But now Gantry was shaking his head dubiously. "I'll do what you say and do it quickly. But candidly, Mr. McVickar, I'm afraid of Grysoun. If Blount should happen to go at him just right there might be consequences of another sort. Grysoun is pretty sore as it is."

"Never mind about the consequences. Go and do as I tell you to. Then go around to the telephone exchange and tell the manager that I want a special operator—a man if he's got one—put on this long distance wire; that you want the connection broken between the capital and David Blount's country house and that my wife is to be kept open to you and to Kittredge all day. Has Kittredge got his men out guarding the telegraph wires up here?"

"Yes; all the way out from the cut-in at Grand canyon."

"All right. That's all. Now make that boy of yours burn the road getting back."

It was only a little after 9 o'clock when this conference was held in the guest deserted mountain resort house at the head of Shoshone canyon. At 11 o'clock Blount, who was dictating to three stenographers in succession in his offices in the Temple court, had a call.

"It's that fellow Grysoun," said Col-lins, who had gone to answer the ante-room bell. "He says he's got to see you whether you want to see him or not."

"Send him in," said Blount briefly. And a moment later the ex-bad man of the midget camps entered and carefully closed the door behind him.

"Well, what is it?" queried Blount snappily when Grysoun drew up a chair and sat down.

"I'll tell you first what it ain't," said the word boss authoritatively. "I ain't here to beg for no rakes-off. I've been given the double cross, and I'm sore."

Blount's smile was contemptuous. "You doubtless got what was coming to you," he said coldly. "But go on and tell it out and don't waste time. This is another of my busy days."

"I want to get hold of a newspaper man," said Grysoun. "That's what I want. If they're going to throw me down I'll squeal. It ain't too late yet. Money talks with me every time. Your boss, McVickar, thought he had me cooped up in a barrel, but the other side saw his bid and raised it."

"What other side?" queried Blount.

"There ain't but one other side in this state when your daddy gets into the ring and puts off his coat," said the bribe taker, with an evil leer. "You ain't been fighting round here a couple of months without finding that out?"

"Go on," was the terse command.

"As I was saying, money talks, and right now, when everything is ready to pull off, Sheshan turns up and says the barrel's run dry. There ain't nothing left in it for me. By cripes, I'll show him!"

Blount went into a reflective trance with half closed eyes. Sheshan was the machine organizer for the capital—the spy boss," some called him. David Blount's son saw the door to a chamber of hidden facts slowly opening before him. For some reason Grysoun, the twice bought and sold, had been dropped, and his actuating motive now was plain revenge.

"Tell it out and tell it straight, Grysoun," he resumed at the end of the hesitant pause.

"It's in the registration lists in four wards of this town. They've been cooked up two to one. I've got the lists of the crooked names right here in my pocket. Sheshan knows, the committee of six knows, and the senator knows. But I'm the man that can swing in them extra votes, and more than that, by gades, I'm the only man. When I told Sheshan that a little while ago he invited me to go to his. I'll dal that had ever disturbed the peace of the Sagebrush state, and the central figure around which the story of corruption and bribery would center would be his father! For five long minutes he sat in grim silence, frowning at the miserable traitor, who was shifting uneasily in his chair under the cold glare of the hereditary Blount eyes. But when all was over the traitor had gained his point.

"Go to it," said Blount sharply. "Swear out your own affidavit and get as many more as you can to back it up. Bring the papers here to me between 1 and 2 o'clock this afternoon. That's all! Now go before I am tempted to throw you out neck and heels. If somebody doesn't kill you for this piece of treachery you will be playing in big luck."

When Grysoun was gone Blount put on his hat and went straight to the editorial rooms of the Daily Capital. Blenkinson, the thin faced, long haired editor, was humped in his chair over his desk blue penciling copy like a man running a race against time.

"In just a minute," he said when Blount stood beside him. And then, sticking the copy on the hook, "Now I'm with you."

Blount had marked the unusual daytime activities in the newspaper office and had lustily put two and two together.

"You're at work pretty early for a morning paper force, aren't you, Blenkinson?" he asked.

"You bet we are!" was the quick reply.

"What is the matter?" queried Blount.

"Haven't you heard?" said the editor. "Somebody—heaven only knows who—has been gathering up a lot of false registration evidence involving half a dozen of the principal towns in the state. The stuff came to us by a sort of underground route, but it's reliable all right. It's a corker. There'll be 10,000 repeaters challenged in this state at the polls tomorrow, and no man living can tell what the outcome will be."

Blount saw a great light, which suddenly grew to clarifying brightness.

"Whom does the scandal involve, Blenkinson?" he asked quietly.

At this the long haired editor grew curiously embarrassed. "You're with us, Blount, that I know. But you are also your father's son. There are only one machine and one boss in the Sagebrush state."

Blount nodded dumbly. Then, "When will you go to press with the first edition of the paper?"

"At 3 a. m. sharp," was the reply.

Blount turned to go. "I may have another half column or so for you before that time," he said, "but you needn't hold the forms open for me. I'll call you over the phone if I have anything to say."

Once in the street, Blount went straight to the bank where he had rented the safety box. Five minutes in the privacy of the vault anteroom, with the unlocked box before him, confirmed his suspicions. The packet which he had so carefully secured was made up of blank papers folded to appear like the originals, and it became convincingly evident that his office safe had not been dynamited for nothing.

The matter which would appear under glaring search heads the next morning would be the evidence which he himself had collected, carefully edited no doubt, so that it would leave out all that might incriminate anybody but the machine and the machine's boss—his father.

With a muttered threat of vengeance directed at his traitorous office force, Blount went slowly back to the Temple court and sat down to wait for Grysoun's return, giving Collins orders to deny him to everybody else.

Once again in the history of the race it had become the duty of a son to betray a father. Blount saw his way lying clearly defined before him. He must take the affidavits which Grysoun would bring and lay them before Judge Hemingway, the one man in the capital, if not in the entire state, who would have the courage of his convictions and the high sense of duty to act, and act promptly.

Blount saw the dreadful consequences marshalling themselves in readiness. His father would be implicated beyond any possibility of hope of exculpation, and the people of the state—stirred as they would be by the widespread story of fraud which he himself had gathered—would show little mercy to the chief instigator of the frauds.

During the last half hour of waiting Blount could no longer sit still, and he was pacing the floor of the private office, ten steps and a turn, monotonously, when Grysoun was ushered in.

"I've got 'em, a full dozen of 'em!" growled the bribe taker, throwing a thick packet of papers on Blount's desk. "Now, then, what do I get out of it?"

Blount stopped short and whirled as if the demand had been a blow.

"You'll get just what any other criminal gets when he turns state's evidence," he rapped. "You won't be prosecuted and sent to the penitentiary, as you deserve to be. Now get out of here, and don't let me have to tell you twice!"

Grysoun made a move as if he would repossess himself of the packet of affidavits, but Blount came between with the danger signals flashing in his eyes.

"No, you don't!" he said sharply. "I told you to go—do it!" And, as once before, the bribe taker went out muttering curses.

When the corridor door had closed behind the traitor Blount put the affidavits in his pocket and passed out quickly through the anteroom.

"I don't know when I shall be back," he said to Collins, with a hand on the door of express. "Has any one called since noon?"

"No. Some lady sent a boy up to ask for you, but I sent word that you were not in, as you told me to."

Even realized that he had unthinkingly barred Patricia out with all the others. And now she would drive to Wartburg Hall without him, and the terrible thing that must be done must be done before he should see her face again.

THE ASSOUAN DAM.

ACCORDING to a late cable message, Sir John Ald, who was born in 1833, is dead. It was with good reason that he was created a peer in 1901, for he was the builder of the Assouan dam across the Nile, 850 miles above Cairo, which adds hundreds of square miles to the arable lands of Egypt, besides so controlling the stream as to insure the steady fertility of vast areas hitherto imperfectly cultivated.

Extension work is even now going on, but the original dam completed by Sir John Ald a few years ago, 15 miles long, with a maximum height of 130 feet and a difference of water level of 65 feet, forms a reservoir capable of storing a billion tons of water.

There are 120 sluices, giving free vent to the surplus water at flood. When the river is rising all these are open, so that the fertilizing silt passes down the valley to enrich the plains. Between December and March, when the water is pure and clear, the reservoir gradually fills. The needs of navigation are met by a "holder" of four great locks.

The firm of John Ald & Co. of London was given the contract in February, 1888. Two months later work began which called for a maximum force of 11,000 laborers, of whom 1,000 were European masons and other skilled workmen. On reaching the bed of the stream rotten rock was found, but orders were given to proceed regardless of expense. The masonry is of native granite, of which 1,000,000 tons were used before the present expenditure was undertaken.

How To Surely Get Rid Of Rheumatism

Phenomenal Results Of Positive Antidote To Uric Acid.

The first dose or two of the positive antidote found for uric acid gives immediate relief in all forms of rheumatism, gout, lumbago and kidney trouble, and quickly brings on a cure. Every man and woman who has already tried it knows that this statement is true.

This antidote, called the "Rexall Rheumatism Cure," has already cured over 1,000 cases of rheumatism. An excellent illustration is given by Mrs. Mary E. Thorne of Owosso, Mich., 87 years old, of a 14-year case of rheumatism in 3 doses. It cured Emma Klingensmith, the well-known Indian "lady of Flint, Mich., of an excruciating case inside of a week. And many other cases have been cured. That it is the world's cure for rheumatism.

The "Rexall Rheumatism Cure," moreover, is absolutely free from all dangerous drugs, alcohol, or narcotics, free from opium, morphine, chloroform, ether, chloroform or phosgene, and is guaranteed so to the United States government.

"Rexall Rheumatism Cure" sold at 40c a bottle by all leading druggists, or will be sent prepaid on receipt of 40c, or 10c for each bottle, by The Rexall Store, Co., Flint, Mich.

Railroad Accommodations Janesville

There are upwards of three hundred traveling men who make Janesville their home. Sixty passenger trains a day makes such a residence especially desirable. It enables many of them to reach home more frequently than would otherwise be possible as these trains cover eight branches of the C. & N. W. and C. M. & St. P. railways, besides Interurban lines which reach other points in Southern Wisconsin and Northern Illinois. The splendid retail stores of Janesville are important factors also in making this a desirable residence city. The cost of living is materially reduced as compared to what it costs in other towns and no class of people know this better than the commercial traveler.

There are many "Knights of the Grip" friends of yours who would be interested in knowing about Janesville. WON'T YOU MAKE IT A SPECIAL POINT TO SPEAK TO ONE SUCH FRIEND?

"Assouan" is from the Arabic "al sumun," meaning "the opening"—i. e., of the Nile. It is the ancient Syene whence came "syenite," the red rock of the region so extensively used of old in the making of Egyptian obelisks and monuments.

Value of Modern Education.

We learn a great deal that is useless about geography, but ask any simple question of the average "educated" person—the shortest route to Persia for instance, or how many days it takes to go to India or to Argentina—and you will probably receive a wrong answer or no answer at all.—Petite Republique.

Fine Winter Vegetable.

We are only just now beginning to have skirrets in our market. This vegetable is an Asiatic one, being known to China and India. It has been a favorite in Europe and especially in Paris for 25 years, and has tuberous clustered roots, very white and sweet, and when served with butter they are delicious. It is a most desirable winter vegetable.

A Greek Joke.

A citizen of Cumae, on a donkey, passed by an orchard, and seeing a branch of a fig tree loaded with delicious fruit he laid hold of it, but the donkey went on, leaving him suspended. Organ Concert.

The members of the Court street M. E. church are making extensive preparations for their organ concert on Wednesday evening of this week. The new organ which is being erected in their church is from the factory of Marshall Brothers, Milwaukee, and is said to be one of the finest instruments of its size and cost which has ever been turned out at their manufacturing plant. This organ will cost the society twenty-six hundred dollars, and they propose to give a concert to raise a portion of the funds necessary to meet the payment.

SUCCEEDS BALLINGER AS SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR—WALTER L. FISHER.

Washington, D. C.—In the selection of Walter L. Fisher of Chicago, as the successor of Richard Ballinger, formerly secretary of the Interior, President Taft has chosen of the most aggressive department heads in his official family.

Back in 1898, Mr. Fisher had repeated conferences with President Roosevelt regarding the ways and means of conducting a national campaign for the conservation and development of national resources of the United States. These were upon President Roosevelt's invitation. In Chicago, he won considerable prestige as secretary and president of the municipal voters' league, when he led the work in reforming the city council by publishing the records of aldermen. Later as examiner for the Meritman commission in Chicago, he placed himself squarely behind a movement for better city government.

Last September Mr. Fisher was appointed with President Arthur T. Hadley, of Yale university, on a commission to investigate railroad bond issues and to devise means of controlling bond issues generally. At one time he was suggested as candidate for chief of police of Chicago.

Mr. Fisher is a West Virginia product, having been born in Wheeling, in 1862.

Quite Natural.

To Purify Water.

To purify water sprinkle a tablespoonful of pulverized alum into a hoghead of water (the water to be stirred at the same time). It will after a few hours, by precipitating to the bottom the impure particles, so purify the water that it will be found to possess nearly all the freshness and clearness of spring water. A half-pail containing four gallons may be purified by a teaspoonful of alum.—National Magazine.

Was a Relative.

A little child was seen walking around near "the boarded lady," at one of the side shows at a country fair. The child being evidently on good terms with the Barker, indicated to the on-lookers that it was probably related to the bewitched female, so she asked the child: "Is the boarded lady your mother?" "No," answered the child, "she is my father."
